

ABOUT

The Tamar Valley is renowned for some of the finest scenery in the British Isles and is a region steeped in beauty and history. Designated a National Landscape it encompasses the valleys of the Rivers Tamar, Tavy and Lynher. Notably, much of the area forms an integral part of the Cornish Mining World Heritage Site.

The Tamar Valley is a harmonious fusion of breath taking natural landscapes, historical richness, and industrial heritage. Explore serene villages, vibrant towns, and Plymouth - Britain's Ocean City. Nearby, discover sun-kissed beaches, expansive moors, ancient harbours, and remarkable industrial sites, all within easy reach. Catering to diverse preferences, the Valley stands as an inviting destination with something special for everyone.
